

13. With which one of these statements about the environment and the economy do you most agree
[ROTATED: protection of the environment should be given priority, even at the risk of curbing economic growth (or) economic growth should be given priority, even if the environment suffers to some extent]?